

Analytical Daydream No.1: Commuter Railway Station

Myriam Thyes, 2011. HD video Pal, 1:53, stereo.

Director, script, camera, editing, animation, sound: M. Thyes

A suburban train station near Zurich - a common situation. The noise level is high, as many trains pass by - typical for Switzerland. The machine to stamp the tickets looks neat and emanates orderliness. Bushes wave in the wind. What has started as a simple video, turns into an absurd occurrence: The constructive symbols of the machine develop their own will... The world outside is experienced as strange and odd, a daydream allows fantasies and reveals fears.

